

LOS ANGELES DAILY TIMES.
(COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.)By YARNELL, CAYSTLE, MATHEWS & OTIS.
OFFICE NO. 9 TEMPLE STREET.

NOTICE.

The Los Angeles Daily Times will be sold on all the trains of the Southern and Central Pacific Railways, and on the Atlantic, Pacific, Santa Fe and Texas & Pacific roads.

The Times can also be found at the newsstands of the Palace and Continental Hotels and the Hotel, San Francisco.

The Times office is connected with the telephone system of this city, and those desiring to receive the paper by mail may do so by this means.

REDUCED SUBSCRIPTION PRICES.

Per Week (delivered by carrier) $0.20
Per Month (by mail) 4.00
Per Six Months (by mail) 24.00
Per One Year (by mail) 48.00

THE TIMES DURING THE SUMMER.

City subscribers of the Times visiting Santa Monica or any of the resorts of the coast for a few months can have the paper sent to them for a week or longer by paying for the same at the publication office, No. 9 Temple street, as follows:

SIO REWARD.

The proprietors of the Times will pay a reward of $10 for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of a person stealing the Times from the doors of its subscribers.

The most widely-circulated Daily Paper in Southern California.

REGULAR REPUBLICAN TICKET.

LOS ANGELES COUNTY.

(Election Tuesday, Nov. 7, 1922.)

For State Senator.

HON. J. F. CRANK, of Pasadena.

For Member of the Assembly.

NATHAN BAKER, of Santa Ana.

MELVIN MUDGE, of Compton.

For District Attorney.

E. F. DE CELIA, of Los Angeles.

For County Treasurer.

JOHN W. HINTON, of Los Angeles.

For County Clerk.

W. H. RUSSELL, of Los Angeles.

For Supervisor of Public Schools.

JOHN W. HINTON, of Los Angeles.

For Auditor.

JOHN W. HINTON, of Los Angeles.

For Sheriff.

EDWARD THOMAS WRIGHT, of Los Angeles.

For County Assessor.

DANIEL W. FIELDS, of Los Angeles.

For County Engineer.

ANDREW McFARLAND, of Compton.

For Public Administrator.

J. W. POTTS, of Los Angeles.

For City Judge.

J. A. FISHER, of Los Angeles.

For Los Angeles Township Justice.

P. M. DANCY, of Los Angeles.

For Constables.

T. A. DOMINGO, of Los Angeles.

MARCUS D.

What is the use of writing the name out in full? Everybody knows we refer to Boruck of the "hoss" paper.

Well, we are committed to the opinion that this Knight of the Turf is just the maddest man south of Sitka. Now, we do not use that word "maddest" in its objectionable sense indicating lunacy, but we mean that Brother Boruck has got on an abiding, substantial bit of compromising displeasure.

Brother Boruck at an early day announced himself as willing to be sacrificed in the cause of his country and party to the extent of taking the gubernatorial nomination, but the party would not accept the sacrifice and hence the rampant, red-hot, blood-curdling campaign that Brother Boruck is conducting against the whole people of the State of California.

We say against the whole people, for so, indeed, it is; as Brother Boruck arraigns the whole Republican party, press, convention, nominees and people at the bar of his belligerent ambition, and in doing so distills some of the strongest adjectives in the language.

On the other hand this implacable warrior is at outs with the Democracy, and disclaims any political affiliation, albeit he is running the very hottest campaign sheet imaginable.

But Brother Boruck's campaign politics is purely personal. He is a Horatius on the bridge of Tiber fighting, not, however, to save Rome, but to avenge himself upon the people. He is braver than Horatius, too, for the late census shows that his opponents are nearly a million, while those that opposed the Roman were but a fraction of this number.

It seems not to have occurred to Brother Boruck that if the people of California wanted him in any official capacity they could have got him, and that they did not take him is proof that he is too little a figure.

This would be the plain, common-sense view to have taken of the situation. True it is not very soothing to a mind endowed with inordinate vanity, but it is logical, and, what is more, it is true.

Craft and turfs are discordant pursuits, and it is simply ambition run mad when one assumes to carry a State portfolio under one arm and a pool-bow under the other. Shoemaker, stick to your last!

THE Democratic party in Ohio is the same as the Democrats in California. Among the rallying cries at a Sunday Democratic mass meeting in Cincinnati were, "down with the churches," "down with the theological seminaries," "down with the Young Men's Christian Associations," "down with the Temperance Unions," and "down with Puritanism." And these sentiments were uttered by one Charles Remelmin, an alleged "advanced thinker," whatever that may mean, who was the candidate of the Democratic party for Auditor of the State of Ohio.

The same kind of indulgence in the same language, outspouting in California, but the sentiment when they cry "down with the Sunday law" means all the rest. The man who doesn't want a Sunday, wants no churches, and if he advocates the repeal of the Sunday law, he will oppose Christian Associations and Temperance Unions. No Christian man can vote with the Democratic party on their platform without violating his conscience and his vows. No sincere seeker after truth can stand on that platform without stultifying himself and playing false to his principles. Democracy has taken a step backward, in which no representative man of this progressive age can follow. The spirit which moved Remelmin to the utterance of such sentiments as are credited to him pervades his party in California.

Turn sewage question is assuming such a phase in this city as to attract attention even from strangers and visitors. It should attract the attention from the old residents than it does.

Mr. W. N. MORRIS, the former proprietor of the Pacific Hotel and one of our honorable councilmen, who was reported as having been killed by railroad employees, at Texas, is not an angel yet, or if he is he still inhabits this mundane sphere. He was interviewed by a reporter of the San Antonio Light in reference to the connection of the Southern Pacific with the "Sunset" route, from which we gather that the Southern Pacific is running to within two miles of Eagle's Nest from this side, and the "Sunset" to within twenty-five miles of the same point from beyond, and that the connection will be made by the first of November at a point above the Pecos river. The same paper states that an arrangement has been made between the Rio Grande and Pecos railroad and the Huntington syndicate whereby the Pecos will be connected with the Southern Pacific railway in order to supply it with coal.

ELSMERE in our columns appears a letter from the great Eastern nursery firm of E. Moody & Sons of Lockport, N. Y., which notices the article on the curculion written by R. B. Warren, and which appeared in these columns some weeks ago. Mr. Moody, who is good authority, states that it is impossible to import the curculion on nursery stock for the reason that it only infests bearing trees, and is propagated in the ground under the trees from which they fall. He says also that the pest is readily held in check by spraying with Paris Green or London Purple, and it has no terror to the intelligent fruit-grower. In fairness to Mr. Sibley, who is engaged in importing nursery stock, and who also has the best interests of the fruit-growers of this section at heart, we give the article a place.

The curculion has been met and we are pleased, it seems. From the dispatches published elsewhere it appears to partake of the nature of a genuine Waterloo in Ohio. The figures are not yet in, but enough is known to concede anything claimed, though by tomorrow we apprehend the picture will not be so dark. We find our consolation in this, however, that the Democratic party cannot stand many such victories as that. Just consider what it means. The temperance question was one of the principal issues, and a triumph over temperance is a triumph of dishonor that will return in curses on the heads of those who have contributed to it. In West Virginia, however, the Republicans have made considerable gains, and the soreness of the defeat in Ohio is ameliorated by this fact. The old saying, "as goes Maine so goes the Union," will probably prove true yet.

THE local Republican candidates are making a thorough and very satisfactory canvass of the county. At Newhall and San Fernando, Monday and Tuesday evenings, one party, consisting of Hon. J. F. Crank, Col. M. Mudge, E. F. de Celia and Col. E. Williams had rousing meetings. Last night they were at Santa Monica and to-night will speak at Los Nietos.

Another party, Hon. Nathan Baker, Messrs. J. W. Hinton and John Dolland spoke at El Monte last night to a good crowd, and to-night will be at Azusa. They report matters looking very satisfactory to their successful candidacy.

BEN BUTLER, now the Greenback and Democratic nominee for Governor of Massachusetts, wants the Greenbackers to drop their name, as he says it will do nothing for him. The trouble with Ben is that he is like the Irishman's flea. He has swung around the circle of so many parties that he doesn't know where to find himself, and he wants the matter simplified by dropping a few of the party names.

Mrs. JANE SWISHELM in a letter devoted to General Grant, which she contributes to the Pittsburg Dispatch, calls him "the little man with the rat-catcher face." All the same she caught other game than rats in his trap along about '63 and '64. Mrs. Swishelm trusts herself loose and goes for the "silent man" with terrible vindictiveness.

MR. HOWLAND proposes to have the electric light in operation within six weeks from date. He has made arrangements for the timber for the masts, and the "plant" will be on hand when wanted. He will now proceed to organize a stock company, so as to give the management of the light into the hands of home capitalists.

MEN AND WOMEN.

Gen. A. L. Lovejoy, who founded Portland, Or., died in that city recently.

Miss Mary Hall has been admitted to practice law before the courts of Contra Costa, the first woman lawyer in that State.

Mr. Gladstone is still guarded by special officers, two of them accompanying him whenever he walks or rides out. Hitherto they have carried only batons, but now they have been furnished with revolvers and twenty rounds of ammunition each.

A New York speculator has offered Professor Huxley the English edition of $500 per lecture for a series of 400 lectures in this country, during the seasons of 1883 and 1884.

Each of Garibaldi's children is to get $2000 a year for life from the Italian Government. Yet their late father was in 1834 condemned by the grandfather of the present King of Italy to be shot.

King Cotevase wished to take presents back to his wives in Zealand, and the authorities in England made a grant for that purpose; but when it was found that there were twenty-nine wives, the original sum was increased to $50.

A colored miser of Philadelphia by the name of Rev. Joshua Proctor Bond Esq., died yesterday in a city, leaving $100,000 to a brother. He was born in Virginia in the last century, traveled a circuit in New Jersey, married a daughter of the late colored Bishop Allen. No sincere seeker after truth can stand on that platform without stultifying himself and playing false to his principles. Democracy has taken a step backward, in which no representative man of this progressive age can follow. The spirit which moved Remelmin to the utterance of such sentiments as are credited to him pervades his party in California.

Turn sewage question is assuming such a phase in this city as to attract attention even from strangers and visitors. It should attract the attention from the old residents than it does.

THE Democratic party in Ohio is the same as the Democrats in California. Among the rallying cries at a Sunday Democratic mass meeting in Cincinnati were, "down with the churches," "down with the theological seminaries," "down with the Young Men's Christian Associations," "down with the Temperance Unions," and "down with Puritanism." And these sentiments were uttered by one Charles Remelmin, an alleged "advanced thinker," whatever that may mean, who was the candidate of the Democratic party for Auditor of the State of Ohio.

The same kind of indulgence in the same language, outspouting in California, but the sentiment when they cry "down with the Sunday law" means all the rest. The man who doesn't want a Sunday, wants no churches, and if he advocates the repeal of the Sunday law, he will oppose Christian Associations and Temperance Unions. No Christian man can vote with the Democratic party on their platform without violating his conscience and his vows. No sincere seeker after truth can stand on that platform without stultifying himself and playing false to his principles. Democracy has taken a step backward, in which no representative man of this progressive age can follow. The spirit which moved Remelmin to the utterance of such sentiments as are credited to him pervades his party in California.

Turn sewage question is assuming such a phase in this city as to attract attention even from strangers and visitors. It should attract the attention from the old residents than it does.

THE Democratic party in Ohio is the same as the Democrats in California. Among the rallying cries at a Sunday Democratic mass meeting in Cincinnati were, "down with the churches," "down with the theological seminaries," "down with the Young Men's Christian Associations," "down with the Temperance Unions," and "down with Puritanism." And these sentiments were uttered by one Charles Remelmin, an alleged "advanced thinker," whatever that may mean, who was the candidate of the Democratic party for Auditor of the State of Ohio.

The same kind of indulgence in the same language, outspouting in California, but the sentiment when they cry "down with the Sunday law" means all the rest. The man who doesn't want a Sunday, wants no churches, and if he advocates the repeal of the Sunday law, he will oppose Christian Associations and Temperance Unions. No Christian man can vote with the Democratic party on their platform without violating his conscience and his vows. No sincere seeker after truth can stand on that platform without stultifying himself and playing false to his principles. Democracy has taken a step backward, in which no representative man of this progressive age can follow. The spirit which moved Remelmin to the utterance of such sentiments as are credited to him pervades his party in California.

Turn sewage question is assuming such a phase in this city as to attract attention even from strangers and visitors. It should attract the attention from the old residents than it does.

THE Democratic party in Ohio is the same as the Democrats in California. Among the rallying cries at a Sunday Democratic mass meeting in Cincinnati were, "down with the churches," "down with the theological seminaries," "down with the Young Men's Christian Associations," "down with the Temperance Unions," and "down with Puritanism." And these sentiments were uttered by one Charles Remelmin, an alleged "advanced thinker," whatever that may mean, who was the candidate of the Democratic party for Auditor of the State of Ohio.

The same kind of indulgence in the same language, outspouting in California, but the sentiment when they cry "down with the Sunday law" means all the rest. The man who doesn't want a Sunday, wants no churches, and if he advocates the repeal of the Sunday law, he will oppose Christian Associations and Temperance Unions. No Christian man can vote with the Democratic party on their platform without violating his conscience and his vows. No sincere seeker after truth can stand on that platform without stultifying himself and playing false to his principles. Democracy has taken a step backward, in which no representative man of this progressive age can follow. The spirit which moved Remelmin to the utterance of such sentiments as are credited to him pervades his party in California.

Turn sewage question is assuming such a phase in this city as to attract attention even from strangers and visitors. It should attract the attention from the old residents than it does.

THE Democratic party in Ohio is the same as the Democrats in California. Among the rallying cries at a Sunday Democratic mass meeting in Cincinnati were, "down with the churches," "down with the theological seminaries," "down with the Young Men's Christian Associations," "down with the Temperance Unions," and "down with Puritanism." And these sentiments were uttered by one Charles Remelmin, an alleged "advanced thinker," whatever that may mean, who was the candidate of the Democratic party for Auditor of the State of Ohio.

The same kind of indulgence in the same language, outspouting in California, but the sentiment when they cry "down with the Sunday law" means all the rest. The man who doesn't want a Sunday, wants no churches, and if he advocates the repeal of the Sunday law, he will oppose Christian Associations and Temperance Unions. No Christian man can vote with the Democratic party on their platform without violating his conscience and his vows. No sincere seeker after truth can stand on that platform without stultifying himself and playing false to his principles. Democracy has taken a step backward, in which no representative man of this progressive age can follow. The spirit which moved Remelmin to the utterance of such sentiments as are credited to him pervades his party in California.

Turn sewage question is assuming such a phase in this city as to attract attention even from strangers and visitors. It should attract the attention from the old residents than it does.

THE Democratic party in Ohio is the same as the Democrats in California. Among the rallying cries at a Sunday Democratic mass meeting in Cincinnati were, "down with the churches," "down with the theological seminaries," "down with the Young Men's Christian Associations," "down with the Temperance Unions," and "down with Puritanism." And these sentiments were uttered by one Charles Remelmin, an alleged "advanced thinker," whatever that may mean, who was the candidate of the Democratic party for Auditor of the State of Ohio.

The same kind of indulgence in the same language, outspouting in California, but the sentiment when they cry "down with the Sunday law" means all the rest. The man who doesn't want a Sunday, wants no churches, and if he advocates the repeal of the Sunday law, he will oppose Christian Associations and Temperance Unions. No Christian man can vote with the Democratic party on their platform without violating his conscience and his vows. No sincere seeker after truth can stand on that platform without stultifying himself and playing false to his principles. Democracy has taken a step backward, in which no representative man of this progressive age can follow. The spirit which moved Remelmin to the utterance of such sentiments as are credited to him pervades his party in California.

Turn sewage question is assuming such a phase in this city as to attract attention even from strangers and visitors. It should attract the attention from the old residents than it does.

THE Democratic party in Ohio is the same as the Democrats in California. Among the rallying cries at a Sunday Democratic mass meeting in Cincinnati were, "down with the churches," "down with the theological seminaries," "down with the Young Men's Christian Associations," "down with the Temperance Unions," and "down with Puritanism." And these sentiments were uttered by one Charles Remelmin, an alleged "advanced thinker," whatever that may mean, who was the candidate of the Democratic party for Auditor of the State of Ohio.

The same kind of indulgence in the same language, outspouting in California, but the sentiment when they cry "down with the Sunday law" means all the rest. The man who doesn't want a Sunday, wants no churches, and if he advocates the repeal of the Sunday law, he will oppose Christian Associations and Temperance Unions. No Christian man can vote with the Democratic party on their platform without violating his conscience and his vows. No sincere seeker after truth can stand on that platform without stultifying himself and playing false to his principles. Democracy has taken a step backward, in which no representative man of this progressive age can follow. The spirit which moved Remelmin to the utterance of such sentiments as are credited to him pervades his party in California.

Turn sewage question is assuming such a phase in this city as to attract attention even from strangers and visitors. It should attract the attention from the old residents than it does.

THE Democratic party in Ohio is the same as the Democrats in California. Among the rallying cries at a Sunday Democratic mass meeting in Cincinnati were, "down with the churches," "down with the theological seminaries," "down with the Young Men's Christian Associations," "down with the Temperance Unions," and "down with Puritanism." And these sentiments were uttered by one Charles Remelmin, an alleged "advanced thinker," whatever that may mean, who was the candidate of the Democratic party for Auditor of the State of Ohio.

The same kind of indulgence in the same language, outspouting in California, but the sentiment when they cry "down with the Sunday law" means all the rest. The man who doesn't want a Sunday, wants no churches, and if he advocates the repeal of the Sunday law, he will oppose Christian Associations and Temperance Unions. No Christian man can vote with the Democratic party on their platform without violating his conscience and his vows. No sincere seeker after truth can stand on that platform without stultifying himself and playing false to his principles. Democracy has taken a step backward, in which no representative man of this progressive age can follow. The spirit which moved Remelmin to the utterance of such sentiments as are credited to him pervades his party in California.

Turn sewage question is assuming such a phase in this city as to attract attention even from strangers and visitors. It should attract the attention from the old residents than it does.

THE Democratic party in Ohio is the same as the Democrats in California. Among the rallying cries at a Sunday Democratic mass meeting in Cincinnati were, "down with the churches," "down with the theological seminaries," "down with the Young Men's Christian Associations," "down with the Temperance Unions," and "down with Puritanism." And these sentiments were uttered by one Charles Remelmin, an alleged "advanced thinker," whatever that may mean, who was the candidate of the Democratic party for Auditor of the State of Ohio.

The same kind of indulgence in the same language, outspouting in California, but the sentiment when they cry "down with the Sunday law" means all the rest. The man who doesn't want a Sunday, wants no churches, and if he advocates the repeal of the Sunday law, he will oppose Christian Associations and Temperance Unions. No Christian man can vote with the Democratic party on their platform without violating his conscience and his vows. No sincere seeker after truth can stand on that platform without stultifying himself and playing false to his principles. Democracy has taken a step backward, in which no representative man of this progressive age can follow. The spirit which moved Remelmin to the utterance of such sentiments as are credited to him pervades his party in California.

Turn sewage question is assuming such a phase in this city as to attract attention even from strangers and visitors. It should attract the attention from the old residents than it does.

THE Democratic party in Ohio is the same as the Democrats in California. Among the rallying cries at a Sunday Democratic mass meeting in Cincinnati were, "down with the churches," "down with the theological seminaries," "down with the Young Men's Christian Associations," "down with the Temperance Unions," and "down with Puritanism." And these sentiments were uttered by one Charles Remelmin, an alleged "advanced thinker," whatever that may mean, who was the candidate of the Democratic party for Auditor of the State of Ohio.

The same kind of indulgence in the same language, outspouting in California, but the sentiment when they cry "down with the Sunday law" means all the rest. The man who doesn't want a Sunday, wants no churches, and if he advocates the repeal of the Sunday law, he will oppose Christian Associations and Temperance Unions. No Christian man can vote with the Democratic party on their platform without violating his conscience and his vows. No sincere seeker after truth can stand on that platform without stultifying himself and playing false to his principles. Democracy has taken a step backward, in which no representative man of this progressive age can follow. The spirit which moved Remelmin to the utterance of such sentiments as are credited to him pervades his party in California.

Turn sewage question is assuming such a phase in this city as to attract attention even from strangers and visitors. It should attract the attention from the old residents than it does.

THE Democratic party in Ohio is the same as the Democrats in California. Among the rallying cries at a Sunday Democratic mass meeting in Cincinnati were, "down with the churches," "down with the theological seminaries," "down with the Young Men's Christian Associations," "down with the Temperance Unions," and "down with Puritanism." And these sentiments were uttered by one Charles Remelmin, an alleged "advanced thinker," whatever that may mean, who was the candidate of the Democratic party for Auditor of the State of Ohio.

The same kind of indulgence in the same language, outspouting in California, but the sentiment when they cry "down with the Sunday law" means all the rest. The man who doesn't want a Sunday, wants no churches, and if he advocates the repeal of the Sunday law, he will oppose Christian Associations and Temperance Unions. No Christian man can vote with the Democratic party on their platform without violating his conscience and his vows. No sincere seeker after truth can stand on that platform without stultifying himself and playing false to his principles. Democracy has taken a step backward, in which no representative man of this progressive age can follow. The spirit which moved Remelmin to the utterance of such sentiments as are credited to him pervades his party in California.

Turn sewage question is assuming such a phase in this city as to attract attention even from strangers and visitors. It should attract the attention from the old residents than it does.

THE Democratic party in Ohio is the same as the Democrats in California. Among the rallying cries at a Sunday Democratic mass meeting in Cincinnati were, "down with the churches," "down with the theological seminaries," "down with the Young Men's Christian Associations," "down with the Temperance Unions," and "down with Puritanism." And these sentiments were uttered by one Charles Remelmin, an alleged "advanced thinker," whatever that may mean, who was the candidate of the Democratic party for Auditor of the State of Ohio.

The same kind of indulgence in the same language, outspouting in California, but the sentiment when they cry "down with the Sunday law" means all the rest. The man who doesn't want a Sunday, wants no churches, and if he advocates the repeal of the Sunday law, he will oppose Christian Associations and Temperance Unions. No Christian man can vote with the Democratic party on their platform without violating his conscience and his vows. No sincere seeker after truth can stand on that platform without stultifying himself and playing false to his principles. Democracy has taken a step backward, in which no representative man of this progressive age can follow. The spirit which moved Remelmin to the utterance of such sentiments as are credited to him pervades his party in California.

Turn sewage question is assuming such a phase in this city as to attract attention even from strangers and visitors. It should attract the attention from the old residents than it does.

THE Democratic party in Ohio is the same as the Democrats in California. Among the rallying cries at a Sunday Democratic mass meeting in Cincinnati were, "down with the churches," "down with the theological seminaries," "down with the Young Men's Christian Associations," "down with the Temperance Unions," and "down with Puritanism." And these sentiments were uttered by one Charles Remelmin, an alleged "advanced thinker," whatever that may mean, who was the candidate of the Democratic party for Auditor of the State of Ohio.

The same kind of indulgence in the same language, outspouting in California, but the sentiment when they cry "down with the Sunday law" means all the rest. The man who doesn't want a Sunday, wants no churches, and if he advocates the repeal of the Sunday law, he will oppose Christian Associations and Temperance Unions. No Christian man can vote with the Democratic party on their platform without violating his conscience and his vows. No sincere seeker after truth can stand on that platform without stultifying himself and playing false to his principles. Democracy has taken a step backward, in which no representative man of this progressive age can follow. The spirit which moved Remelmin to the utterance of such sentiments as are credited to him pervades his party in California.

Turn sewage question is assuming such a phase in this city as to attract attention even from strangers and visitors. It should attract the attention from the old residents than it does.

THE Democratic party in Ohio is the same as the Democrats in California. Among the rallying cries at a Sunday Democratic mass meeting in Cincinnati were, "down with the churches," "down with the theological seminaries," "down with the Young Men's Christian Associations," "down with the Temperance Unions," and "down with Puritanism." And these sentiments were uttered by one Charles Remelmin, an alleged "advanced thinker," whatever that may mean, who was the candidate of the Democratic party for Auditor of the State of Ohio.

The same kind of indulgence in the same language, outspouting in California, but the sentiment when they cry "down with the Sunday law" means all the rest. The man who doesn't want a Sunday, wants no churches, and if he advocates the repeal of the Sunday law, he will oppose Christian Associations and Temperance Unions. No Christian man can vote with the Democratic party on their platform without violating his conscience and his vows. No sincere seeker after truth can stand on that platform without stultifying himself and playing false to his principles. Democracy has taken a step backward, in which no representative man of this progressive age can follow. The spirit which moved Remelmin to the utterance of such sentiments as are credited to him pervades his party in California.

Turn sewage question is assuming such a phase in this city as to attract attention even from strangers and visitors. It should attract the attention from the old residents than it does.

THE Democratic party in Ohio is the same as the Democrats in California. Among the rallying cries at a Sunday Democratic mass meeting in Cincinnati were, "down with the churches," "down with the theological seminaries," "down with the Young Men's Christian Associations," "down with the Temperance Unions," and "down with Puritanism." And these sentiments were uttered by one Charles Remelmin, an alleged "advanced thinker," whatever that may mean, who was the candidate of the Democratic party for Auditor of the State of Ohio.

The same kind of indulgence in the same language, outspouting in California, but the sentiment when they cry "down with the Sunday law" means all the rest. The man who doesn't want a Sunday, wants no churches, and if he advocates the repeal of the Sunday law, he will oppose Christian Associations and Temperance Unions. No Christian man can vote with the Democratic party on their platform without violating his conscience and his vows. No sincere seeker after truth can stand on that platform without stultifying himself and playing false to his principles. Democracy has taken a step backward, in which no representative man of this progressive age can follow. The spirit which moved Remelmin to the utterance of such sentiments as are credited to him pervades his party in California.

Turn sewage question is assuming such a phase in this city as to attract attention even from strangers and visitors. It should attract the attention from the old residents than it does.

THE Democratic party in Ohio is the same as the Democrats in California. Among the rallying cries at a Sunday Democratic mass meeting in Cincinnati were, "down with the churches," "down with the theological seminaries," "down with the Young Men's Christian Associations," "down with the Temperance Unions," and "down with Puritanism." And these sentiments were uttered by one Charles Remelmin, an alleged "advanced thinker," whatever that may mean, who was the candidate of the Democratic party for Auditor of the State of Ohio.

The same kind of indulgence in the same language, outspouting in California, but the sentiment when they cry "down with the Sunday law" means all the rest. The man who doesn't want a Sunday, wants no churches, and if he advocates the repeal of the Sunday law, he will oppose Christian Associations and Temperance Unions. No Christian man can vote with the Democratic party on their platform without violating his conscience and his vows. No sincere seeker after truth can stand on that platform without stultifying himself and playing false to his principles. Democracy has taken a step backward, in which no representative man of this progressive age can follow. The spirit which moved Remelmin to the utterance of such sentiments as are credited to him pervades his party in California.

Turn sewage question is assuming such a phase in this city as to attract attention even from strangers and visitors. It should attract the attention from the old residents than it does.

THE Democratic party in Ohio is the same as the Democrats in California. Among the rallying cries at a Sunday Democratic mass meeting in Cincinnati were, "down with the churches," "down with the theological seminaries," "down with the Young Men's Christian Associations," "down with the Temperance Unions," and "down with Puritanism." And these sentiments were uttered by one Charles Remelmin, an alleged "advanced thinker," whatever that may mean, who was the candidate of the Democratic party for Auditor of the State of Ohio.

The same kind of indulgence in the same language, outspouting in California, but the sentiment when they cry "down with the Sunday law" means all the rest. The man who doesn't want a Sunday, wants no churches, and if he advocates the repeal of the Sunday law, he will oppose Christian Associations and Temperance Unions. No Christian man can vote with the Democratic party on their platform without violating his conscience and his vows. No sincere seeker after truth can stand on that platform without stultifying himself and playing false to his principles. Democracy has taken a step backward, in which no representative man of this progressive age can follow. The spirit which moved Remelmin to the utterance of such sentiments as are credited to him pervades his party in California.

Turn sewage question is assuming such a phase in this city as to attract attention even from strangers and visitors. It should attract the attention from the old residents than it does.

THE Democratic party in Ohio is the same as the Democrats in California. Among the rallying cries at a Sunday Democratic mass meeting in Cincinnati were, "down with the churches," "down with the theological seminaries," "down with the Young Men's Christian Associations," "down with the Temperance Unions," and "down with Puritanism." And these sentiments were uttered by one Charles Remelmin, an alleged "advanced thinker," whatever that may mean, who was the candidate of the Democratic party for Auditor of the State of Ohio.

The same kind of indulgence in the same language, outspouting in California, but the sentiment when they cry "down with the Sunday law" means all the rest. The man who doesn't want a Sunday, wants no churches, and if he advocates the repeal of the Sunday law, he will oppose Christian Associations and Temperance Unions. No Christian man can vote with the Democratic party on their platform without violating his conscience and his vows. No sincere seeker after truth can stand on that platform without stultifying himself and playing false to his principles. Democracy has taken a step backward, in which no representative man of this progressive age can follow. The spirit which moved Remelmin to the utterance of such sentiments as are credited to him pervades his party in California.

Turn sewage question is assuming such a phase in this city as to attract attention even from strangers and visitors. It should attract the attention from the old residents than it does.

THE Democratic party in Ohio is the same as the Democrats in California. Among the rallying cries at a Sunday Democratic mass meeting in Cincinnati were, "down with the churches," "down with the theological seminaries," "down with the Young Men's Christian Associations," "down with the Temperance Unions," and "down with Puritanism." And these sentiments were uttered by one Charles Remelmin, an alleged "advanced thinker," whatever that may mean, who was the candidate of the Democratic party for Auditor of the State of Ohio.

The same kind of indulgence in the same language, outspouting in California, but the sentiment when they cry "down with the Sunday law" means all the rest. The man who doesn't want a Sunday, wants no churches, and if he advocates the repeal of the Sunday law, he will oppose Christian Associations and Temperance Un

